The 1980s are best known for extroverted dreams, desires, illusions and the strive for a colorful reality.

This mood was reflected in music as well and - together with the new technical possibilities of synthetic instruments - created the unique sound we all love.

Being children of this magical time themselves, the guys of 85 REWIND want to make this decade a new experience for all generations by using characteristic synthesizers, drum machines and massive guitar effects.

In February 2022 their debut album was released. The title "Magic Hour" marks the time of day around dusk when the sun just dipped below the horizon and there still remains ambient light and a warm glow that powerfully translates to the emotion of a moment. While this will make you feel dreamy and nostalgic, it can be at the same time dramatic and theatrical.

The record also features the subtitle "Season One" as the listener becomes the protagonist of a storyline, experiencing an emotional rollercoaster ride.

Due to the pandemic, the record had to be finalised fully remotely with the band in Germany and their producer located in Nashville, USA.

The band members Volker Goldfuss, Alexander Hantzsch, Christian Schlagenhauser and Andreas Dentler (from left to right) have many years of band and stage experience and want to bring Synthwave on the large stages of the world.

85 REWIND has been renewed for "Season Two" that is currently in production and will drop in early 2023.
